

The occupational regulations overseen by the board have been effective because the board has been fair and prompt in their oversight of the regulations.